LONDON LETTER

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

LONDON, June 30.

There has been a rumour in London that Lord Kitchener is not disposed to accept the invitation that is to be offered to him by the Australian government to undertake the reorganisation of the military forces of the Commonwealth, and that he will adhere to his original intention to return to this country in the Spring of next year. Lord Kitchener has been serving abroad continuously for a great number of years, and is now anxious to return to this country. He greatly desires to obtain a military appointment at home if possible, but if, as seems probable, it is impossible to find any suitable vacancy for him, he will prefer to revert to the halfpay list and await his opportunity of further military service.

It is considered by those who know Lord Kitchener best to be extremely improbable that he will visit Australia when he leaves India, since it is his present intention, as indicated by recently written letters, to spend a few months in China and Japan only, returning by way of Canada. It is now quite settled that when he lays down the supreme command in India Lord Kitchener shall be created a Field Marshal, so that he will avoid the operation of the age limit, and his services will be available at any time they may be required. (The telegraph has informed us that Lord Kitchener has accepted the Commonwealth's invitation and will visit Australia and New Zealand after his visit to China and Japan.—Ed. C. M.)

I am told by an authority upon whose information every dependence may be placed that, as a consequence of the recent scandal in connection with the administration of the French navy, various facilities have been asked from, and will probably be readily given by, the British Government, that our own naval organisation may be carefully studied by French officers. It is recognised, both in London and Paris that there can be no competition between the two navies, and that the giving of such facilities could but tend to preserve, and even increase, the entente.

As a matter of fact the situation in the French navy is really alarming. Disaffection is constantly in evidence and there is a lack of cohesion among the men and officers that bodes ill for the nation. Added to that there are a number of minor troubles, including the prevalence of opium smoking among officers. In this connection I may mention that a whole string of well equipped ships have been unsundered in Brest, with a flourishing business in progress among naval men.

Despite the boom in South African shares and the run of Church Pagnante and the Imperial Conference the West End is suffering a dull time. The fact is that well-to-do people are for once talking that tobacco thing, politics, in their most exclusive circles and even over the tea-cups. The declaration of a prominent Socialist that his party would never be satisfied till nobody received more than five hundred a year is taken seriously and the Budget is regarded with equal gravity as being on the same road to ruin. I fancy these views are too apprehensive, but nevertheless I mention them as giving an idea of the feeling that is abroad. Of course John Burns once said the same thing in regard to income, but he has since changed his mind as to the righteous limitation of a man's worth, so there is hope for the other Socialist too.

But there is a big rally of aristocrats and middle class investors to the side of Lord Rosebery, who has declared that this is not a Budget but a revolution. An amazing unanimity of sentiment in regard to it is expressed in all circles but those whose Radicalism is of the stonewall order. But a noticeable feature of the events of the week has been the throwing over of Lord Rosebery by Sir Edward Grey, Mr. Haldane and Mr. Asquith, whose speeches in favour of the Budget have struck a more Radical note than has formerly been heard from these erstwhile pillars of the Liberal League.

In the smart hotels one sees plenty of vacant tables in the dining rooms of an evening. That tells its own tale of social dullness, for at this season of the year one usually has to book one's place far ahead. There is a rumour in circulation to the effect that Lord Rosebery intends to carry his protest still further. "I give it just as I have heard it, without undressing it in any way. It is that he has determined to close Mentmore, his country seat in

PRESENTATION TO CAPT. F. A. BROWN.

After a connection with the Far East extending over nearly 30 years, Capt. F. A. Brown sailed for Canada today by the S.S. China. His departure could not be allowed to pass unnoticed by the employees of the Hongkong and Kowloon Wharf and Godown Company, with whom he had been associated for a score of years, and accordingly on Monday they met to do him honor.

A letter couched in felicitous terms from the European members of the staff was read by Mr. E. Osborne, Secretary of the Company, who also added a personal tribute to Capt. Brown's capabilities, his unflinching courtesy and his kindness of heart. An inscribed gold watch from the European employees was then handed Capt. Brown, who briefly returned thanks and expressed the hope that the future of the Company would be bright and prosperous.

CHINESE GIRL'S ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

On the afternoon of the 24th inst., a constable on duty at Shaukiwan heard a woman calling out from the window of 51, Main Street, that someone was hanging herself on the premises. The constable at once went to the house and in a cubicle at the back he found a Chinese girl with a price of string tied tightly round her neck. This he cut off and soon the girl was little the worse for the self-inflicted act. Inspector Collett, however, had her removed to hospital where she has since been kept under observation, the doctor coming to the conclusion that she is quite sane.

At the Magistracy to-day, before Mr. F. A. Hazlewood, she was charged with attempting to commit suicide, and was discharged with a caution.

ALLEGED WRONGFUL DISMISSAL.

Before Mr. Justice Gompertz, at the Supreme Court, to-day, Mr. A. Landau sued the Oriental Brewery Co., Ltd., to recover $200.00; $100 being for wages, $100 in lieu of one month's notice, and $90.00 out of pocket expenses agreed to be paid by the defendants to the plaintiff.

Mr. Crowther Smith appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. E. Davidson for the defendant.

Plaintiff stated that he entered the employment of defendant on June 21 and he made his agreement with the general manager. The agreement was for $100 a month and riskless expenses. The general manager gave him a letter of introduction to the clients. Witness commenced immediately and on July 1 he went to the Ice Depot, in Des Voeux Road as usual. On that date he made arrangements with Captain Baddeley with regard to selling the beer in bottles. The book-keeper asked for the letter of introduction and produced a receipt for $33.33 which he wanted witness to sign.

Witness replied that he would rather wait until the end of the month. Later the book-keeper said there was not enough work for him. Witness introduced the beer to Messrs Wiesmann's, Bertolone, the Mutual Stores, and several other places. The King Edward Hotel absolutely refused to take the beer and there were other firms who objected to take the beer. Witness spent the whole of his time at the work.

Cross-examined, witness said he was formerly clerk at the Hongkong Hotel. He left of his own accord and had no connection with any other hotel. Witness gave Mr. Hocking the reference that he was a brother Mason and said he could enquire at the Hongkong Hotel. Mr. Hocking never said he would engage witness on trial.

The fact that you were a Mason was not a guarantee, that you could sell beer?—Well, I would do my best and I am a good canvasser.

Did Mr. Hocking tell you that your predecessor did not bring in enough business to pay his salary?—No.

Did he tell you that your position depended on the amount of business you got?—No.

Witness never kept any order book as he did not get any commission and Mr. Hocking did not say that if he did well, he would consider the question of commission. The amount of business was recorded in the books of the company. Mr. Hoffman said that there was not enough work for him and Mr. Hocking said the same thing three days later. Witness had not given any note of his out of pocket expenses. Mr. Hocking never asked him to make a regular report of his work and expenses for the day.

Mr. Davidson said that the case for the defense was that the plaintiff came to see Mr. Hocking about June 20 and asked for employment. Mr. Hocking informed him that the previous runner had left because he had been extremely unsatisfactory; he had not brought in enough orders to pay his salary. Mr. Hocking continued that he would take plaintiff on trial at $100 a month and pointed out at him that his position depended on the amount of business he got. Plaintiff was very unsatisfactory and was never in the office. Mr. Hocking instructed the cashier to pay plaintiff's wages and Mr. Hoffman, the cashier, did so. Mr. Hoffman tendered $33.33 and a receipt but plaintiff refused the money. There was nothing said about out of pocket expenses.

Alfred Hocking, manager of the Oriental Brewery Co., Ltd., said he employed defendant as a runner in June last. He engaged him verbally and for two days he had never been plaintiff's general notice stating that he was employed by the company.

His Lordship reserved judgment.

THE ASSASSINATION OF SIR CURZON WYLLIE AND DR. CAWAS LALOGA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

London, July 8. Dreadful as was the assassination of Sir Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Laloga at the Imperial Institute on Thursday evening, it has served one useful purpose—the "man in the street" has realized more clearly than ever before the risks our public servants run in administering India. Many a time during the last year or two have we had cables of assassinations and attempted murders away out in different towns of the great dependency, but it is wonderful how distant lent the clock of spathy to the news. It seemed but an echo of a far off report.

Now, here in our England itself, that prides itself on its quietude and safety, these two men are stricken down, and the deed is done at an early and among people expressly brought together for the purpose of showing friendliness to Indian students, of whom the assassin was one.

At once the shocking terrorism of the Indian sedition movement has been brought before our eyes as though thrown on a gigantic screen. In twelve hours the people of England have understood as never before the spirit of the movement that is abroad in India.

No better friend to Indians has ever entered official life than Sir Curzon Wyllie. In all his long record he has been renowned as accessible to high or low who needed help or advice, and since he has been home that kindly interest has been continued not merely to visiting Indian nobles but also to all students from India.

Therein may have been the reason that fixed itself in the brain of Madar Lal Dhangra, a twenty-four year old engineering student from the Punjab. His brother lately wrote to Sir Curzon Wyllie asking him to look after Dhangra as he feared he had become imbued with the sentiments of the seditionists. Sir Curzon had some difficulty in finding him, as he had moved from Bloomsbury to Highgate and thence to Baywater, but at last he traced him and had a talk with him, subsequently promising to continue it at the reception of the National Indian Association at the Imperial Institute.

After a most pleasant evening the assassin, the only man not in evening dress, was standing on the verandah and evidently Sir Curzon, who was about to leave the gathering, thought it was a favourable time to carry out his promise. He allowed Lady Wyllie to go on ahead with Mr. Fazlulohy, with whom they had dining at the Savoy, but before any friendly overtures could be made the Indian drew a revolver and shot the students' best friend. Sir Wyllie fell at once, but the Indian fired five times altogether. One of the shots hit Dr. Cawas Laloga, of Shanghai, with fatal effect, though he lived for a few moments. No doubt the cables have given you some of these details, but perhaps, I can fill in one or two blanks.

There is no doubt that Dr. Laloga was shot because he thrust himself forward to protect Sir Curzon Wyllie and so avert what Indians admit is a disgrace to their race. At any rate Dr. Laloga had certainly never injured a single Indian, and had many good deeds to his own record. Dhangra himself made that clear for he said in the police court—"I only want to say that there was no wilful murder in the case of Dr. Laloga. He tried to hold me and I fired in self defence."

The next on the scene was Sir Lesley Probyn, who grappled with the assassin and sustained two broken ribs in the struggle. Then, when the police had handcuffed the murderer and taken from him a miscellaneous assortment of other weapons, Sir Lesley and his wife gently took Lady Wyllie home.

In the court Dhangra has preserved a demeanour of unconcern. The prosecution has been taken of ridding him of his tie and boot laces and anything else he could use for self-destruction, but otherwise he appears neat and trim, with a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles showing up on his dark skin.

It has transpired that Dr. Laloga went to the reception at the invitation of Sir Cowasjee Jehangir, and his son, They were distressed to a pathetic degree by the occurrence.

But one of the beautiful things in a sad evening was the noble womanliness of Lady Wyllie. The first moment of horror having passed, she summoned that nerve for which women have often been famous and till she left the place she was the calmest of them all, giving orders as one who fought against fate for hope. One messenger she sent for her own doctor, and when he came he found her sitting in her magnificent evening gown on the floor with her husband's head upon her lap and the life blood from his wounds soaking into her dress. When the doctor pronounced that there was no hope she gathered herself up with a look of terrible sorrow on her face, but still she kept her head and before she was supported to the waiting carriage she turned and thanked all around, including the police, for their kindness.

The Rev. James Ware of Shanghai has written a warm appreciation of Dr. Laloga to the papers. He knew him for over twenty years.

In Anglo-Indian circles there is, of course, the profoundest regret at the occurrence. Lord Morley, on being informed of it at his house at Wimbledon, at once left for the India Office. I may mention, however, that Lord Morley himself is under constant guard, for there is a conspiracy to strike at the India Office officials and the King of the movement stays safe in Paris. Day and night the Ministry house at Wimbledon is guarded

MACAO NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Macao, July 26. With storm drums to keep us on the go, throughout the week we have been scribbled with wind and showers. Till late on Saturday the clerk of the weather was still at his post; but with the dawn of Sunday we were offered an ideal day's outing.

On Wednesday last as the new gunboat Macao steamed in under the command of Captain Motta d'Oliveira, the gunboat Uj arrived with Admiral Teraoka and his suite. They were welcomed at the naval pier by Lieut. Ventura, acting harbour master, and Lieut. A.D.C. Dias, to H.E. the Governor, while a contingent from the Infantry Corps did the honours under Capt. Canavarro. The distinguished visitors were entertained to dinner the same evening by our Governor, a select few of the habitués of Government House being asked to meet them. On Thursday Sir Roderick drove his guests out to do the sights. The Boa Vista Hotel catered to the party during their three days' stay here.

Confusing rumours are rife as to the approaching sojourn in our midst of a native dignitary who will, it is said, take up his quarters at Lappa. The erection of a huge mansion over the way for the reception of the lordly visitor gives colour to the report. Tenders for the grant of the new option monopoly for a term of five years were appraised on 22nd inst. at 2 p.m. The Ung Ming Sow Syndicate were the highest bidders at $131,000, but the offer fell through owing to the Government's reserve of $150,000. The Committee have been freely twitted for having let slip a golden chance of laying an anchor to windward, which it may not be given them to avail of now, and also for having failed to give due notice in the advertisements of a reserve price. That the Government has acted within its rights, no one can gainsay, for it was distinctly stated in the advertisements that whereas the monopoly would be awarded to the highest bidder it was none the less clearly announced that the Government did not bind itself to close with any of the offers. The next valuation has been fixed for 26th September.

The collapse of the Santa Casa lottery, the proceeds of which formed the mainstay of this charitable institution, has begun to tell its tale of woe. The Santa Casa has to face an estimated deficit of some $13,000 for the current year and the immediate effect has been a whittling down of expenditure on all sides. The first blow to be inflicted was the orphan asylum and of the 40 inmates 10 have been returned to their pauper kindred or widowed mothers. We are all much exercised in mind about devising a remedy for such a dire blow to the hopes of the rising generation. Being a grim coincidence the father of a 7-year old mite had the self-same day been discharged from his post of watchman at a Fantan saloon. Off he went like an arrow from the bow to plead his cause with the Father Director of the House with the boy dangling at his heels. Between rage and despair the poor old fellow soon lost his way into the depths of his vocabulary and shot out "shocking" epithets which were very unbecomingly on the heads of his undoers. A crowd of weeping mothers gathered about the steps where the boy was being taken and bawled his stand and threw in their suppliant appeals. However the irresistible logic of a good priest soon cornered him and he has resigned himself, along with the rest, to bide his time till the clouds roll by. Tenders for the school lottery are being invited for the 15th prox at 2 p.m.

The dredger recently purchased in Japan which came over in sections that have been fitted together by a Hongkong firm is now lying off the lower reaches of the river. It is a grab contrivance from Pristman's and will come in handy for minor operations about the landing stages. It is quite independent of the apparatus relative to the big work now pending. The acquisition of a couple of machines of a similar type, at a minimum of cost, in the day, would have been an ample harbour for future operations by easing the labour of the ever-increasing volume of silk. This calls up the fact that the Government is still wavering between the carrying out of the undertaking departmentally or by contract. Strangely to say, it seems inclined to the former; but we mean to have another say on the point soon.

DR. WILDER'S MOVE IN SHANGHAI REFORM.

The following rule was entered on the minutes of the American Consular Court at Shanghai, a few days ago by Dr. Amos P. Wilder, American Consul-General, adjutants-at-law in the United States Consular Court at Shanghai, shall hereafter be granted only to persons admitted to practice as attorneys-at-law in the United States Court for China. Foreign practitioners having permission to appear in the U.S. Court for China shall be granted the same privilege in this Court.

A GOOD SUMMER REMEDY. A this season diarrhoea and dysentery are always prevalent. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the best remedy for these troubles. It is a simple, safe, and effective remedy. It is sold by all druggists and is also sold by the Chinese Dispensary at 10, Cross Street, Singapore.

ALLEGED WRONGFUL IMPRISONMENT.

Mak, Tin Sang and Chan Kwan Shan, before Mr. Justice Gompertz, at the Supreme Court this afternoon, to recover $500 as damages for false imprisonment.

Mr. Crowther Smith appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. P. S. Dixon for the defendant.

His Lordship said that he had noticed that the Registrar had been sub-poenaed to produce the judge's notes in a case. His Lordship did not think that they were entitled to it, but that they could have a certified copy.

Mr. Dixon—The exhibits are covered by the sub-poena.

His Lordship—Then you don't want my notes?

Mr. Dixon—I don't mind about the notes. Plaintiff said that all the goods in the shop had been seized while his master was at a solicitor's office, and witness was arrested. He told them that the master would return presently. Witness was then put in goal where he remained about twenty-four hours.

"What sort of a time did you have while you were there," asked Mr. Smith. "I was uncomfortable the whole night," replied witness. "I had no evening meal and I had no sleep."

Cross-examined by Mr. Dixon witness said he was not a partner and had no share in the business.

Mr. Dixon said that His Lordship had held in a summary action that witness was a partner.

His Lordship asked if the point was whether a person could be arrested when the goods had been seized.

Mr. Smith said that he was so. His Lordship said that he had always held that where there was property it should be seized in preference to the arresting of a partner.

Mr. Dixon said the belief said there were not sufficient goods in the firm.

His Lordship said he did not think they could issue a writ of execution against anyone without leave. He had not given a written judgment in the case referred to.

Mr. Dixon explained that witness was not arrested until after the judgment of the Chief Justice in the appeal case where witness was held to be a partner. The Code, the Ordinance and the form of the warrant showed that they had a dual remedy.

Defendant gave evidence that there were insufficient goods to cover the claim when plaintiff was arrested.

His Lordship said that on the authorities quoted by Mr. Dixon he was inclined to hold that the arrest was justified but he thought it was a question which should be settled in the interests of the profession. He would therefore reserve his decision.

CHINESE LABOUR UNION FORMED.

About one thousand Chinese, representing all classes of mechanics in the Colony, met at the Tung Tin, Lok In and Chui Yin Hotels, West Point, on Sunday, to consider the question of forming a Trades Union.

This time they had applied for permission to meet and therefore everything was in order. Several speeches were made and resolutions passed.

The proposed rules, as translated by a contemporary, are said to be as follows:—It is proposed to establish a "school" for the benefit of men engaged in our trade; it is hoped that the institution may last for all time.

All members may make suggestions. Any member having good regulations to suggest should make them known to other members. If these (good) views are not brought forward they cannot promote the public good. However, if any regulation is found unsatisfactory it can be discussed at meetings and amended there and then.

It is proposed that all office-bearers shall meet at the "school" every Saturday evening. Any of our fellow-workers having good suggestions to submit, or other matters concerning the public good, are requested to attend at the "school" and discuss them with the office-bearers.

It is proposed that if any of our fellow-workers have not yet heard of the benefits that will be derived from becoming a member of the "school" and who may come to hear of it, they will be allowed to join the "school" within the next three months if they should so desire, and shall pay the same fee of $1 as original members. After the three months have expired the entrance fee will be $5.

If any member should be careless about his work and meet with any accident and have no means to pay for medical treatment, he can come to the "school" and make a report to the committee, who will send a subscription list round to their fellow-workers to collect subscriptions. Upon the return of the subscription list, the "school" will pay the money out first (to the member in need). On pay day the amounts of individual subscriptions will be deducted (from each subscribing member's wages). The advance is made as a special favour by the "school."

It is proposed that the general and finance committees be elected once in each quarter by ballot. It is proposed that the "school" shall issue to each member a book containing the names of the native places of the members so that there will be no confusion about surnames. The book will also serve for recording receipts for monthly payments. In case the book is lost, a report made by the member to the "school" will be a new book will be issued.

It is proposed that all members who are not out of work shall make their monthly payments on each pay day. In case they should be unable to pay, they will be allowed to make a monthly payment, which will settle their arrears. Beyond the period of three months, however, members shall not be allowed to make a monthly payment, but shall be required to pay the full amount at once.
